

Letter from advocates to Governor Lee

468 people wrote to the governor asking him to end the delay on P-EBT benefits for eligible families for school meals missed since October 2020. This was their message.

Our Tennessee children are hungry, and this is happening on your watch.

These children qualify for P-EBT, a food benefit program that provides money to families to replace school meals lost due to school closures caused by COVID-19. They have not received food support since September of last year. That means they have not received benefits -- for which they qualify -- during the darkest days of this pandemic: October, November, December, and January. Without this support, over 360,000 Tennessee kids are going hungry.

Families have received no P-EBT benefits and no explanation. Our request is simple: release October through January P-EBT benefits to families now. Do not delay any longer.
